

Profiles: Capturing the Information of Discovery

This manual provides the information necessary for practitioners, family members and others to complete the discovery process by developing descriptive profile documents that substitute for assessment reports. This critical aspect of discovery results in a three part Profile that tells the job seeker's story and prepares for the customized plan for employment.

Part I of the Profile provides the identifying information necessary to begin the in-depth description of the individual's life developed in Part II. Part III provides a summarization that provides the foundation for the employment plan. Profile outlines, samples and guides are included in a digital format. This manual is valuable for employment professionals, teachers, family members, and self-advocates.
